Organizational History

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Incorporated was founded January 16, 1920, on the campus of Howard University by five illustrious women. These women were dedicated to the principles of scholarship, service, sisterly love, and finer womanhood. These women shared the simple belief that sorority elitism and socializing should not overshadow the real mission for progressive organizations – to address societal ills, prejudices, poverty, and health concerns of the day. Since its inception, the Sorority has chronicled a number of firsts: Zeta Phi Beta was the first Greek-letter organization to charter a chapter in Africa; to form adult and youth auxiliary groups; to centralize its operations in a national headquarters; and to be constitutionally bound to a fraternity, Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Incorporated. Zeta's national and local programs include endowment of its National Educational Foundation, community outreach services, and support of multiple affiliate organizations.

Sigma Omega Zeta Chapter History

Sigma Omega Zeta chapter was chartered in March 14, 2003 by twelve distinguished members of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. In the quest of establishing the chapter, one of the chapter's goals was to establish and sponsor an undergraduate chapter. In this endeavor, Sigma Omega Zeta was instrumental in helping the Sorors of Iota Sigma chapter on Clayton State University's campus get their start. Sigma Omega Zeta participates annually in the March of Dimes' March for Babies[®] and the Zeta's Stork's Nest, as well as other community service events. Since the inception of Sigma Omega Zeta, the sorors continue to uphold the principles of Zeta: Finer Womanhood, Service, Sisterly Love, and Scholarship.
